

Tough Stand by Redevelopment Agency Staff

In its toughest stand to date on the subject of redevelopment, the Daly City Redevelopment Agency staff has, in a strongly worded seven-page report, refuted comments made recently to the city's Planning Commission by opponents of the proposal.

Russell Hoss, agency consultant, responding to comments made by the San Mateo County Legal Aid Society and John Denton before the Planning Commission on June 26, labeled the statement as "misleading."

He pointed to what he called "the many inaccuracies and the inferences of irresponsibility" contained in both Denton and Legal Aid Society statements before the commission.

The Daly City Redevelopment Agency's report came only two days before the Planning Commission is to make a determination whether to go ahead with redevelopment in the Bay Area Rapid Transit District area near Knowles Avenue.

If the commission decides to scrap the plans, City Manager David Rowe has vowed "that will be the end of it."

But observers feel the commission will sanction a plan of lesser proportions than first proposed by a 24-member citizens committee.

In his rebuttal, consultant Hoss said the Legal Aid Society attorneys contend that the agency could not substantiate there exists at least 50 per cent of blight in the area required under federal law for total clearance.

"We are not going for total clearance," Hoss said. "While we would be hard pressed to show 50 per cent blight in the area, we can show the existence of 20 per cent, enough to justify spot redevelopment."

Hoss said opponents of the plan were quoting federal stipulations for "total clearance" of the project area when several times in the past the agency has "made it clear we do not intend to go for total clearance."

There are conflicting views voiced by opponents, the redevelopment consultant explained.

On the one hand, the Legal Aid Society's position contends that the city's principal purpose in selecting the area adjacent to BART is to "get rid of low-income minority persons," and that the agency had no plans for relocation of these individuals.

"The fact of the matter is that the changing land uses in the area limit its capacity to continue to serve as a residential neighborhood and without relocation assistance and rental adjustments to be made by the city to tenants who are displaced, there would be absolutely no financial aid to the renters or homeowners," Hoss said.

The agency board was told that without such aid the tenants would be "unceremoniously dumped and left to their own devices to relocate."

Hoss accused the legal aid representatives of knowing these facts, and also of inferring that the full benefits of the law would not be made available.

He called it another example of their (the LAS) irresponsible disregard for fact."

Step by step Hoss countered claims made by the society and Denton, a self-proclaimed opponent to redevelopment in the city.

Councilman Bernard Lycett scolded Legal Aid Society attorney Craig Scott for his "misleading statements" on the redevelopment proposal.

And City Atty. Albert Polonsky said the city could show where conditions "that could lead to further blighting" in the BART target area are in evidence.

He said these should be taken into consideration.

"This agency," Polonsky pointed out, "has seen fit to have public input which is not required by law. We wanted to get the thoughts of the public and of groups. This we have done."

Councilman McRobert Stewart levelled the strongest blast at the Legal Aid Society attorneys by saying what "bothers" him is that the people went to the Legal Aid Society for advice "and were not given the facts."

All they (the LAS) had to do was read the law. I think they (the people in the target area) are coming up short," Stewart said.

Hoss, in his disagreement with John Denton's opinion, said it is "eminently clear and convincingly stated on the first page of this report (delivered last June) that he regards Urban Renewal as 'nothing less than class war and raceway war'."

Denton's statistical references are not only out of date but reflect data from the 1965-69 period, data that does not apply today, Hoss said.

What Hoss described as Denton's "under-the-table collusive effort so colorfully pictured" concerning an alleged tieup between Crocker Land Co., BART and the city, has no foundation at all, he declared.

Negotiations between these agencies have been "long and arduous," Hoss said.

Breon Acting JESD Chief

Transition Said Smooth

The transition reportedly went smoothly yesterday in the Jefferson Elementary School District as the newly appointed superintendent, Keith Breon, took over from ousted Supt. Frank L. Greenwood.

Greenwood, and his associate for business, Roger Barthuli, were fired by a 3-0 vote of the board last Wednesday following a lengthy closed-door session.

At the same meeting former San Mateo County Deputy Dist. Atty. Keith Breon was hired, at a salary equal to Greenwood's, as interim superintendent.

No one was hired to replace Barthuli.

It was expected that Barthuli's position, which now falls into the "classified personnel category," rather than a "certified" position, will be filled by a business-oriented person.

A spokesman for the district said Breon's first duty upon arrival in the district Monday was to begin reviewing the annual budget in preparation for any cutbacks or new-found revenues that might be forthcoming from the state.

Both Greenwood and Barthuli arrived at the district Administration Offices, 101 Lincoln Ave., Daly City, at their usual hour and turned over all necessary documents and keys without argument to the new superintendent, it was learned.

However, it was expected both men will soon seek legal recourse to either get their jobs back or have the district buy up their contracts.

Three trustees — Dorothy Adams, Beverly Forrester and David Parker — have vowed they will fight either move "to the bitter end."

Breon axed a bid by Mrs. Ferrester to attend a classified employees conference in San Diego later this month.

The new superintendent said the district "cannot afford such travel at this time."

Flood Control Study OK'd By South S.F. City Council

South San Francisco city councilmen last night authorized the city staff to conduct a lightning one-week study for a $355,000 flood project for interim emergency work.

The cash had previously been sent to the county to do the work through the Colma Flood Control District, but was returned to the city — much to the indignation of city officials.

The study will be presented at a continued meeting of the city council next Monday night, at which officials hope the council will be able to authorize an immediate start of the work so that it could be completed before the rainy season begins. Last year, the first big rain took place Oct. 11.

City Mgr. Gale Dreisbach reported that the county engineer had listed certain areas where small jobs would help alleviate the worst effects of heavy rains and the council accordingly hurriedly authorized spending the money out of reserves: On July 11, it was returned, with the explanation that certain technicalities made it impossible for the county to perform the work itself. "The onus is now back on the city to do the work," Dreisbach said. He added that, with the project now under the city council, he would like to see how it can be improved so as to benefit the city more.

"It seems ridiculous that we should lose our summertime construction period," Councilman Patrick Ahern burst out. The other councilmen agreed with Ahern that the county treated the city badly in the emergency flood work project.

Councilman William Borba went farther: he proposed that since we never have any fatalities from the county, let us fraction from the county, let us fraction."

Mayor Warren Steinkamp objected that the county probably preempted the city entering this field. Councilman Terry Mirri protested that instead of merely paying two-thirds the cost of the project, South San Francisco taxpayers could wind up paying 100 per cent of the cost.

Borba explained that with South San Francisco in control, the project economies could be put into effect, such as cutting off the project at Chestnut Avenue. More important, he pointed out, South San Francisco could then go after the neighboring cities — and get them to pay their full share of the project.

He cited Daly City's huge pipeline installed into Colma Creek, shortly before last year's first flood.

Bill Hern, president of Penin-

Manufacturers Assn., declared that "we want something done now. We don't care who does it."

One more disastrous flood, he predicted, and there will be no more business along Colma Creek.

Borba also asked that the staff conduct a study into a more equitable flood control financing method for a county hearing scheduled for Sept. 1.

Dreisbach promised that all aspects of the flood control project will be studied.

Few Credit Cards

The whirlwind meeting that ended with the firing of two top Jefferson Elementary School District administrators last night has set a new policy trend for the district, subject of a recent special state audit.

Toping the agenda was a scheduled meeting with state auditors who wrote the highly critical 21 page report on the district presented to the Board last month and denounced by superintendent Frank Greenwood in a counter reply two weeks ago.

But the audit team, headed by senior auditor for the State Department of Finance, Robert Hamric, failed to show up and the matter was tabled.

Next was the rehiring of retired school teacher Miss Marge Tobias as a special consultant and substitute principal for the 1973-74 school year.

This matter was thought to be routine, but met with a recommendation from superintendent Greenwood that Miss Tobias not be rehired as a consultant, rather she be "on call" as a substitute principle.

Associate superintendent for Instruction, Dr. Vin Stratton, called upon by the board for his recommendations on the matter, disagreed with Greenwood by pointing up the fact Miss Tobias had been very valuable in working on special projects last year.

The Board, in a 40 vote, rejected Miss Tobias as a special consultant for a fee not to exceed $4,000 per year.

The third matter was an unusual move by the board to recall all credit cards in the district except two — those of maintenance chief Ed Jose and ousted superintendent Greenwood.

The issuance of credit cards for telephone calls, gasoline, and car rentals to some school board members, administrators and Classified Personnel Board members had been objected to in earlier talks on the matter by at least two members of the board.

Trustee James Cranna refused to attend the meeting and sent in a letter explaining he had not been provided with information on the 10 items to be discussed. He sent his credit card in the letter to board Chairman Dorothy Adams.

Persons inside the district whose cards were recalled included Personnel Board commissioners Thomas Noonan (who has since moved from the district and his card destroyed) and Mrs. Carol Jeanne Ken-naugh; Trustees Cranna and Edward Tomasello; administrators Stratton and Roger Barthuli. The cards will not be reissued until such time as a new policy is drawn up, the board voted.

Attorney Keith Breon was instructed to draft policy proposals for credit cards, and for travel and reimbursable expenses by employees and officers of the district.

Colma Picks A Holiday For Election

Voter turnouts in Colma city elections have always been moderate.

But unless the date set by the City Council for the recall election of councilman and former Mayor Raymond Ottoboni is changed there will probably only be a trickle of voters.

The council, on a motion of Councilman Earl Taylor, set the recall election date for Oct. 8 — a Monday — and Columbus Day.

Oct. 8 was the deadline for setting the special election, the council was informed.

It has since been pointed out to city officials of Colma that not only is Monday a bad day for an election because of the holiday, it was an improper day for staging such events.

Elections must be held on Tuesdays. Therefore, the special recall election date will have to be changed to Oct. 2, a Tuesday.

On the ballot will be two questions, it was learned.

One will ask if Councilman Ottoboni should be recalled and the other if a replacement (should the recall be successful) be appointed or elected by the people of the city.

The recall is spearheaded by Mrs. Elsie Campbell and Mrs. Marian Danieluz.

In all, 43 signatures were obtained on the recall petition. Only 41 were required.

SSF Fire Victim Dies

Funeral services for 13-year-old Dennis Rodriguez, 2404 Banty Lane, South San Francisco, were held Friday.

Dennis, an orphan, died Monday at St. Francis Hospital in San Francisco of burns incurred in a fire June 26. He was being treated in the hospital's burn unit for second- and third-degree burns over most of his body.

The youth was a member of the PAL champion soccer club, and took part in many other sports activities in the city. Many of his former teammates are expected to attend the funeral — their first, in many cases.

According to firemen, the boy, along with a brother, Tony, 15, and an uncle, David Guardado, 15, came upon a gallon container of duplicating fluid (ethel alcohol) at Westborough Junior High School. Officials said the youths took the container to the ball diamond area. Young Dennis, after a fire had been started, began squirting more fluid on the fire, police said. While doing so, the flame came up to the can and exploded, knocking out the bottom of the can and dousing Dennis in flame.

Dennis, his brothers, Tony and Paul, and sister, Deborah, had been living with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Guardado. He was born in Oakland and was a student at Monte Verde School in San Bruno.

lunches and dinners and travel. The board majority, which has swung 180 degrees since the April election, has ordered Breon to curtail all so-called business lunches and travel on his part.

"If he has any district business to conduct he has an office and can conduct it there," Mrs. Adams, chairwoman of the board said.

Meanwhile, Breon is drafting policies for cutting back the revolving cash fund from $2,000 to $500; substantiating expenses while on district business by school district officials and employees; use of credit cards for telephones and gasoline, and a look at myriad agreements the district has with outside agencies.

A new system of purchasing supplies is also expected to result from Breon's takeover, with an aim toward complying with the recent state auditor's report in this regard, a spokesman for the district said.

Breon will be also expected to complete teacher negotiations now under way.

How long he will remain on the job before a permanent superintendent is named is not known.

"I could be here for a month, two months or a year," he said.

Breon is 37 and a resident of Woodside. He is a specialist in the education field and was called upon in the past, as deputy district attorney, to draft opinions concerning school business and policy in the JESD.

Until called by the board to serve as interim superintendent, Breon was setting up a private practice. He is a former teacher and college registrar.

Rapists Hit After DC Rock Dance

Gingham Squares Hoedown July 28

A 15-year-old San Mateo girl was allegedly abducted and raped by two youths as she left a rock festival at the Cow Palace in Daly City.

The girl told police the two youths, believed to be from the east bay, offered to escort her to the Daly City home of her grandmother where she was staying while visiting the area.

En route they forced her into a school yard at the Bayshore Elementary School near the Cow Palace and repeatedly raped her and forced her into unnatural sexual acts, police said.

The girl was discovered by her grandmother and aunt walking along the road several blocks from the school yard about 6 a.m. Sunday morning.

They took her to the police department after hearing her story.

Police were looking for the two youths described as black, slightly built and about 5'6" in height.

Greenwood, Aide Fired by Trustees

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Frank L. Greenwood, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City for the past eight years, was fired last Wednesday night by the board of trustees following a one hour and 40-minute closed door session.

The board voted 3-0, with Trustee James Cranna absent and Trustee Edward Tomasello charging the meeting was in violation of the law. It also fired Roger Barthuli, the district's associate superintendent for business.

Both men said they would seek legal recourse on the dismissals.

Tomasello walked out of the secret meeting called by Chairman Dorothy Adams during a special session held at the district's administration building on Lincoln Avenue.

He charged the meeting violated "my understanding of the Brown Act."

The Brown Act is the law used to govern meetings of elected and/or appointed officials.

Tomasello called the ouster of Greenwood and Barthuli "very tragic" and predicted it would have a heavy financial impact on the district.

He did not elaborate. But observers interpreted the statement to mean court and related costs attached to Greenwood and Barthuli's dismissals.

Greenwood sat smiling throughout the reading of the minutes of the executive session by Dr. Vin Stratton, associate superintendent for instruction in the JESD.

At the end of the reading, Greenwood pointed out he had not seen any charges against him.

Trustee Mrs. Beverly Forrester said no charges regarding either Barthuli or Greenwood had been discussed in the meeting. Rather, each had reached his or her decision to "rescind" both men's contracts with the district on their alleged failure to live up to their contracts.

Oakland Atty. William R. Johnston, hired during a special meeting last Saturday apparently for the purpose of drafting charges against both administrators, said Greenwood had presented a written request prior to the executive session, noting that if he was the subject of the meeting that the issue be postponed until he conferred with his attorney.

"I was unable to procure counsel," Greenwood informed the board. "And I was not properly notified (of this meeting)."

Chairman Adams suggested the board recess to an executive session to discuss the matter with Atty. Johnston, to which Greenwood responded. "Just don't discuss me."

Association of California School Administrators Atty. Bill Brown is Greenwood's legal counsel in the issue, it was learned.

Johnston told The Times two attempts during the past two days had been made to reach Brown at his office, however, there was no response from the attorney.

Asked if he felt the meeting was a violation of the law, Johnston said: "Absolutely not."

"We did not discuss any charges. It was my opinion that each trustee (Adams, Forrester and Parker) had reached their reasoning to rescind Mr. Greenwood's contract on their own. Perhaps each trustee's reasoning is not the same. I don't know," Johnston said.

Former San Mateo County Deputy Dist. Atty. Keith Breon was hired to replace Greenwood as interim superintendent of the 23-school district at a daily rate equal to the ousted superintendent's pay.

'Boyfriend' Set For DC

A Summer Music Theater, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department, will open its season Thursday, July 26 with "The Boyfriend" by Sandy Wilson.

Under direction of Ron Wells, a cast and crew of some 50 young people will present the musical comedy, set in the 1920's.

"The Boyfriend" is humorous and farcical and lends itself well to an audience of both children and adults.

Wells has directed several successful plays while with the Daly City rec. department. His hits include "Alice in Wonderland," "Once Upon A Mattress" and "Oliver." He also co-directed the 1971 presentation of "Fanny" with Bob Boyd, another local drama specialist.

"The Boyfriend" will open at the Westmoor High School Little Theater. Performances also are scheduled for July 27 and also 28, with curtain at 8 p.m.

Greenwood's salary was $29,000 annually. He had another two years on his current contract.

Tomasello had asked that Greenwood's letter be first sent to the district attorney for his opinion before any action was taken. The trustees failed to act on the request.

It was shortly thereafter that Tomasello walked out of the room, the remaining three trustees said.

Tomasello had another version of what went on.

He said he left the room because of the subject matter being discussed, indicating the trustees and Johnston began talking about the ouster of the two administrators.

It had been strongly rumored prior to the meeting that Greenwood, in disfavor with the new board majority, would be fired at the special meeting.

Johnston, hired earlier in the meeting at a salary of $500 per month plus $50 per hour for all work over ten hours, is expected to provide legal assistance in the matter if Greenwood and Barthuli, as they are expected to do, file legal charges against the district.

The Department of Labor has allocated $324,510 in Neighborhood Youth Corps funds for summer jobs for 746 San Mateo County youths.

The announcement was made by Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan who said a U.S. District Court in New Jersey directed the Labor Department to spend $239 million nationwide on summer jobs.

San Mateo County's $324,510

allocation goes to the County Board of Education which will administer the funds to summer youth employer in local non-profit organizations, including city and county governments.

Transfer some of the youths presently employed under the emergency employment project to work under the newly allocated Neighborhood Youth Corps fund program.

"In effect, that would not create 746 new jobs," he said, noting if transfers of youths from the two programs are required, the total increase in summer jobs for county youths might total about 200 jobs.

County Group Suggests Coast Area Join Mateo CC District

By JOHN HORGAN

The San Mateo County Committee on School District Organization has recommended that the La Honda-Pescadero area become a part of the San Mateo Community College District.

The issue will be voted on by residents of that region, perhaps by June of 1974.

plan—which they are expected to do since inclusion in the San Mateo district would mean a tax rate increase for them—the matter will go back to the committee for more study.

If the residents and the committee cannot reach an acceptable solution to the question, the state's Board of Governors for the community colleges will make the decision for them.

In all probability, the board would uphold the decision to have that area become part of the San Mateo district.

The state has mandated that all communities in California must become part of some junior college district as expected or, perhaps, the Foothill district to the south.

The recommendation by the local committee is the first step in that process.

When La Honda-Pescadero is eventually annexed by some district (either the San Mateo district as expected or, perhaps, the Foothill district to the south), it will mean that all regions of San Mateo County will be part of a junior college district.

Presently, residents of La

San Bruno Will Not Appeal Court's Open Space Ruling

San Bruno will accept without appeal a recent Superior Court ruling that the city cannot rezone state-owned property within the city boundary to open space use.

City Atty. Joe Galligan last week said that although he disagrees with Judge Robert D. Miller's ruling, the city ought not at this time appeal the case.

The decision not to appeal means that the property in question—an area in Crestmoor Canyon earmarked as right-of-way for the extension of Interstate 380 to the coast—will automatically revert back to "unclassified" zoning.

Galligan said this "no-action" would be the best action to take.

According to Galligan, the city appealed the decision, and the court upheld that appeal. The city still would be faced with the possibility of the state requesting "monetary damages" because to the state the rezoning to open space use would be a form of inverse condemnation of property the state places a higher value on than open space use.

Galligan said that if the freeway is built, the problem will automatically be solved. In the event it is not built and the state puts the land up for sale as surplus, the city would be made the first offer for purchase.

In this case, said Galligan, the city could then rezone it before it is sold to some developer—and apparently take it through the courts if necessary.

According to Galligan, Judge Miller ruled that the city's rezoning to open space use was "unconstitutional."

Unretouched Photographs Demonstrate Amazing Action of Grecian Formula-16

The first picture shows how gray Bob Collier was before he decided to do something about it.

The next picture was taken after 3 daily applications of Grecian FORMULA-16. You can hardly see the difference.

As Mr. Collier continued using it daily, Grecian FORMULA-16 gradually built up the natural-looking color he wanted. So gradually, not even his closest associates noticed the day-to-day changes.

Now look at the last picture. See how much younger Mr. Collier looks after 18 days! From now on, occasional use will hold his youthful-looking hair color.

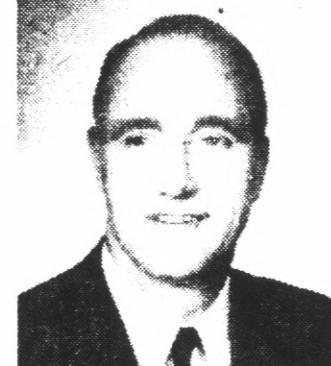

Remember: the photographs above are absolutely un-retouched. The amazing gradual change in hair color was brought about entirely by Grecian FORMULA-16.

More Delay in San Bruno For Church Property Sale

Adequate parking got involved for construction sites, permits—the community around us." He Barnard suddenly broached the initial question on tree removal and as a result San Bruno's St. Andrews Episcopal Church has been saddled with more delay in trying to sell two parcels of its property.

Through the red tape at the planning commission level, went before the City Council last Monday.

He explained that church officials came to the conclusion that church property was not being properly utilized so it was decided "almost unanimously" to sell two oversized lots for two homes.

Under a city code, before trees of a certain size are removed from properties slated for construction, the community around us." He Barnard suddenly broached the initial question on tree removal and as a result San Bruno's St. Andrews Episcopal Church has been saddled with more delay in trying to sell two parcels of its property.

Asked whether he was aware that at least one church official was against the tree removal, Tscharner replied, "Yes. Ted gave me his blessing." The reference was to Ted E. Davids, who says in a letter that he is "one of two" in favor of preserving the one lot with the trees on it.

As Tscharner was explaining his plight, Councilman John

Barnard suddenly broached the initial question on tree removal and as a result San Bruno's St. Andrews Episcopal Church has been saddled with more delay in trying to sell two parcels of its property.

Asked whether he was aware that at least one church official was against the tree removal, Tscharner replied, "Yes. Ted gave me his blessing." The reference was to Ted E. Davids, who says in a letter that he is "one of two" in favor of preserving the one lot with the trees on it.

He was then told there was a reciprocal agreement for use of the nearby city parking lot and the church lot. Barnard said he still wanted to inspect the property "more closely."

Proposal to Be Aired Wednesday

Downtown San Bruno Mall Considered

"Save the downtown" is a recurring cry in practically every town" the mall, despite its cost and some failures, is becoming a major feature in older business districts.

In an effort to "save down-

A mall in Atlanta, Ga., for example, is entirely underground. It was a former subsurface storage area, converted to a two-block shopping area with art galleries, restaurants and nightclubs. The motto is of the post Civil War South.

Here in California, Fresno's mall has been rated among the most successful. Or take San Francisco's Ghirardelli Square. That shopping center was once a candy factory.

Not all malls are successful. But the success-failure ratio would indicate malls — in varying styles and price ranges — can make a difference to dead or dying downtown shopping habits.

One listing of 15 malls shows expenditures ranging from $75,000 for the simplest to upwards of $4 million for the more elaborate structures. The Fresno mall cost $1.8 million.

Total investment in Atlanta by 1972 was expected to be $10 million. There, the reclaimed area reportedly attracts 25,000 people a week.

What all this means to a proposal to be aired tonight at 7:30 at San Bruno City Hall before the property owners and businessmen on that city's lives in the endeavor. But he also may be food for thought.

Once again, the merchants of San Bruno's original and now dying downtown area are striving to receive approval of a program of modest improvement and beautification.

It could be termed a semi-mall.

But merchants on the street know a thorough selling job is necessary. Assessments can be scary. And in San Bruno, there is an inordinate number of absentee owners who are traditionally harder to convince than are the merchants trying to make a living on the street.

Yet, with this plan, there is optimism. All the facts are available. Merchants will know how much they will have to pay, and what they'll get for their dollars. In addition, the city may just pick up half the tab.

Presentations of the plan already have been made before the city's Planning Commission and City Council by Josh Maule III, one of the originators of this latest proposal, and one of its most ardent pushers.

Maule agreed it would be difficult to get everyone to cooperate in this plan, but he said, "The meeting tonight, in a nutshell, is seen by observers as very crucial: either there's new life injected, or the street continues down that road of persistent ills sometimes referred to as 'urban blight'."

County to Press Flood Control Plan

Despite the objections of South San Francisco, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors voted Thursday to proceed with a flood control plan for Colma Creek.

Although the board approved proposed legislation to permit taxing for a $5.3 million project, it left the way open for expansion to a total expenditure of $8.4 million that would provide flood protection even for a "50-year storm" along the creek between its mouth into San Francisco Bay and El Camino Real in South San Francisco.

With involved north county cities supposedly committed to the program, the Supervisors expressed surprise at objections from South San Francisco officials.

Basically, the county, through the Colma Flood Control District, is seeking to develop a plan for a project which will protect properties along the creek from the effects of the heaviest rainstorm — one which could be expected once every 50 years.

The extent of the $5.3 million project would be from the mouth of Colma Creek to approximately Oak Avenue near the North County Courthouse in South San Francisco. The $8.4 million project would extend improvements to El Camino Real, farther west.

John Noonan, city attorney for South San Francisco, which will bear the heaviest tax burden in the project, expressed opposition to the proposed total program, terming it a "runaway project" with "escalating costs."

He expressed the city's opposition to a project which would extend the flood control to El Camino Real at an estimated $3 million additional cost.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald charged that Noonan came to the meeting with "last-minute sabotage."

"If this project fails," he warned, "you (South San Francisco) will have to assume full responsibility."

Noonan denied any "sabotage," stating that the city wants to get the project moving as soon as possible, but believes the plan for improvement of the channel to Oak Avenue in the "critical area," where a lot of the city's major industrial plants are situated, is sufficient.

The indicated reluctance of South San Francisco to go along with a total project prompted Board Chairman Robert St. Clair to express:

"It's so hard to believe what we're hearing here today, it's incredible. We are ready for the project, and now South San Francisco says, 'we're hedging'."

One of the main concerns of South San Francisco is that most of the city's area to be included in the project taxing areas will be in the highest assessment district.

The flood control program establishes three taxing subzones, based on benefits derived. The primary subzone (1), closest to the creek, would have a rate of approximately 44 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. The secondary subzone would have a rate of 40 cents, and the third subzone, extending as far as the upper reaches of San Bruno Mountain, would have a rate of 20 cents.

Daly City Councilman McRobert L. Stewart, whose city council has endorsed participation in the project along with Pacifica, San Bruno and Colma, charged that it is an "inborn policy" of South San Francisco to "wait for somebody else to do it."

"If there is any delay now," he stated, "Daly City will take a different view (as to participation in a combined project). We can't wait any longer. If South San Francisco is flooded again (as it was last winter) and we've done nothing, then we're all in trouble."

Stewart declared that it is imperative that this project is completed in the shortest time possible."

Also urging a go-ahead on the project was Bill Hern, executive director of the Peninsula Manufacturers Association, who said he was speaking for the "victims" of the periodically over-flowing creek.

He predicted that if something is not done soon relative to flood control, South San Francisco will become a "business ghetto."

In approving the action to endorse the project and get the political machinery in motion for establishing a taxing agency to finance the work, the board noted that property owners involved will have the opportunity to express opinions and request subzone changes when precise plans are presented at public hearings to be held in September. No hearing dates have been set.

Sorenson Will Seek Re-election Next Summer

San Mateo County Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson Friday announced he would seek re-election next summer, dispelling sporadic rumors that he would accept a judgeship.

In fact, for the first time, Sorenson confirmed that he has turned down offers to become a Superior Court judge.

The veteran district attorney, at his regular morning press conference, also announced he would seek to have the measure splitting his office placed on the ballot again.

Sorenson will be seeking a sixth-tdl term. He was appointed district attorney in 1953, succeeding Louis B. Dematteis, who was appointed to the superior court bench.

Sorenson has run unopposed in the last three times. In 1954, he received opposition from Roy Seagraves and Herschel Campbell; in 1958 he was challenged by Thomas Bocci.

The district attorney called his job "more interesting" than a judgeship.

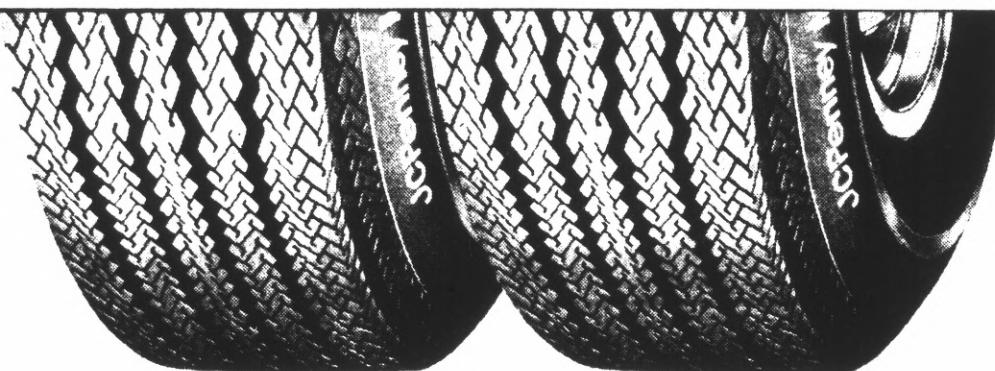

"My job provides me a wider variety of interests," Sorenson said. "It's in the nature of a quarterback directing a team and selecting my own special items of concern for the county. It also gives me more opportunities to be effective in the criminal justice system."

Sorenson said, "We're experiencing a trend back towards a law abiding society in San Mateo County."

On other topics, the veteran D.A. said that such programs as work furlough for sentenced criminals, social services in jail and some innovative measures in probation "haven't worked in reducing the crime rate as it was hoped."

"No one has the answer of preventive rehabilitation in this state, and it must be continually examined," Sorenson said.

Labor Scores County Layoffs

A Teamster Union representative Friday criticized San Mateo County officials for continuing to force county road workers to stay away from their jobs one day per week.

More than half of the county's 43 road workers are laid off from work an average of one day per week in what county authorities describe as an "economy move."

The forced one-day layoffs, which was started last spring, are described by union officials as an "harassment tactic."

Teamster Business Representative Dallas Allen speculated that the one-day layoffs are a pressure tactic to try to get the road workers to go on a monthly salary basis, the same as other county employees.

The county road workers are presently paid a daily wage.

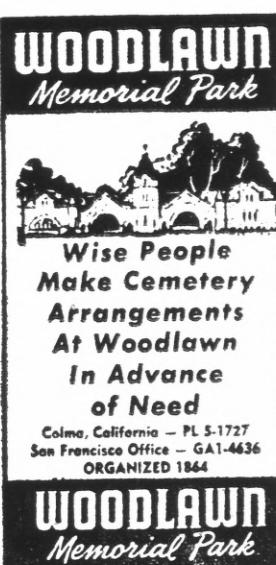

Allen said the county's action is anything but an "economy move" because the state gas tax funds pay for construction of county roads, including workers' salaries.

Allen noted that in addition to road workers losing a day's pay, the employees are also losing sick-leave and vacation benefits which are based on hours worked per month rather than the total number of months on the job.

Allen said union officials have attempted to resolve the dispute with the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, but said the board has refused to discuss the matter until negotiations begin on the workers' next union contract.

Allen said union officials will continue to press the matter with county officials and try everything possible, "short of withholding our labor," to change the present forced one-day layoffs.

THE NEW 1973-74 South San Francisco city fiscal budget came in four volumes this year, stands over six inches tall and is an major armful. Letitia Juarez, a clerk at city hall, found that out while trying to heft a single copy of the four-volume catalog of the city's financial comings and goings for the current fiscal year.

Mrs. Helen Staub Named to D. C. Personnel Commission

Mrs. Helen Staub, long-time term of J. Jay Flynn, Highway Patrol lieutenant who was recently assigned to Lake County, was appointed by the City Council last week to a six-year term on the city's Personnel Commission.

Mrs. Staub had been a library trustee for some 10 years. She will fill the unexpired term of J. Jay Flynn, Highway Patrol lieutenant who was recently assigned to Lake County.

In announcing the appointment, Vice Mayor Victor Kyriakis praised Mrs. Staub for her many years of public service, and said he felt she would do "a fine job as a personnel commissioner."

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Looking for the Unusual? Try Nick's—Moonraker

Dungeness Crabmeat and Shrimp (au gratin, en coquille, two large scallop shells filled with crabmeat and shrimp in a fine cheese sauce, au gratin) is just one of many specialties offered by Nick Gust at his beautiful Moonraker restaurant, located in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach (right next door to Nick's restaurant). Brochette of Beef Tenderloin (bearnaise sauce, slices from the heart of the tenderloin, sauteed exactly right) is another favorite of this superb restaurant which overlooks one of nature's grandest view — the briny deep. If you're looking for the unusual, sip exotic drinks, such as a Mai Tai or Pino Rico (both are mixed with juices and other delightful flavorings) by moonlight while taking in the view from comfortable lounge chairs. An additional romantic touch is the organ music of Don Kelly . . . After an eight-week run at the Dunes in Las Vegas, George Buchanan & Company, featuring his "lovely little ladies," has opened a summer engagement at Finocchio's. This unusual production, featuring puppets and pantomime, is an asset to any show, and judging by the audience reaction it is a hit.

DYNAMIC SEVEN — Visions, a band featuring the talents and versatility of musicians formerly with other well known Bay Area groups, has returned to headline nightly, Tuesday through Saturday, at the Whiskey Hill, in downtown Burlingame. Lochran will provide the sounds for the Special Dance Concert this Sunday night.

Romano's Also Serves Delicious Italian Food

In addition to his flavorful pizzas, Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica, specializes in such delectable dishes as Chicken Liver Saute, Chicken Saute Sec, Chicken Cacciatore (with mushrooms), Lobster Tail and Froglegs. Dinners are served complete or a la carte. And let me tell you, Enrico's minestrone soup is really something special. The wine list is extensive. Pink table wines are great with all types of foods; white wines are recommended with seafoods, chicken, and other delicately flavored dishes; red wines are suggested with steaks, roasts, chops, and other hearty dishes. Champagnes and sparkling wines make any meal a banquet . . . The California Peach Advisory Board took a flock of color pictures in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco. Phil features a gourmet steak specialty called the Peach Beef Wellington, which gains intriguing flavor through the use of a cling peach half. The photos will be used in a forthcoming spread in Institutions Magazine.

No Raise in Prices At Ken's House of Pancakes

You've heard about prices going up, but Ken's House of Pancakes in Millbrae and Menlo Park are featuring lunch and dinner specials at prices that look like they were taken from a menu of the 1950s. Manager Charlie Nafe of Millbrae, demonstrating that his restaurant is indeed a place that families with lots of children can still afford, has devised a mouth-watering selection of daily specials at prices that would win applause from government price-fixers. Lunches feature the same items at lower prices. All include potato, vegetable, choice of soup or salad, roll and butter. Your host in Menlo Park is owner Jim Cunningham . . . Papas Rellenas is one of the Peruvian dishes served at Frank and Fannie Torres' Montara hotel-restaurant (on the Coast Highway One just south of Devil's Slide). Another favorite is the Arroz Con Pollo Special (chicken, Peruvian style). Torres' Dinner Deluxe includes assorted hors d'oeuvres, soup du jour. Frank Torres' special salad, and your choice from approximately 25 entrees. If you're one who finishes a meal with something sweet, try the rum omelette or perhaps the banana or apple fritters.

Saluto's Ideal For Any Occasion

Larry Gerald has brought one of San Francisco's best known luncheon hostesses, Betty Burton, to his Saluto's restaurant to help greet the many friends who are making it to this Burlingame waterfront restaurant for lunch. With Stelvio Storace as executive chef, Saluto's has established an innovative approach to cooking. Specializing in Italian and seafood styles, Storace is also able to adapt to any varied demands made by diners. There's ample free parking and an impressive decor only fifteen minutes from the heart of the San Francisco financial district . . . Park Avenue Tours' daily eight-hour Greyhound Bus "Turnaround" schedules make for a perfect way to spend a "quicky" vacation in South Lake Tahoe (daily departures from San Francisco and Oakland). Bonus packages are offered on these trips, plus a carload of fun — the Nevada way. Those who drive up are also in for a bonus treat. Don't put off making those arrangements.

Licata Clan Back in Restaurant Action

Vince Licata, who travels more than "Gulliver," stayed close to home this vacation time in order to oversee the renovations of his Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant. They are now re-opened for business, much to the joy of their countless steady luncheon and dinner patrons, and invite you to drop in, see the new look, and treat yourself to one of their menu specialties. It wouldn't surprise this Scribe if the energetic Vince took off for a "rest" in Las Vegas or Lake Tahoe after the peak of the tourist season is over . . . Check the "Who's Who" guest book in the lobby of Scotty Campbell's restaurant — you'll be interested in seeing how many distinguished guests from all parts of the globe have sought out this award-winning Redwood City restaurant as their dining choice. Out-of-town patrons are often known to commit to owners Mary Lou Fox and Theresa and Bud Urban that the food raves of Scotty Campbell's are far reaching . . . One of the Peninsula's most attractive wedding reception facilities is at the Shirt Tail in Palo Alto. Up to as many as 150 guests can be accommodated on Saturdays and Sundays up to 4 p.m.

MUSICAL ARTISTRY — Dick Barlow, his piano and orchestra entertain in The Penthouse of the Hotel St. Francis for dancing nightly from 9 p.m., through September 29. The most recent recording hit of this pianist-composer was "The Lonely Mata-dor."

Standing Ovation For Famed George Mardikian

George Mardikian, owner of Omar Khayyam's restaurant in San Francisco, received a standing ovation from 400 members of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors this week when he addressed them at an Elks Club breakfast. Mardikian, who worked as a dishwasher at the old "Coffee Dan's" in San Francisco, later returned and bought the building to open his own restaurant. "America is still the land of opportunity," he declared and urged Americans to appreciate this country and the "dignity of being an American." Howard Blitz introduced the famed restaurateur-author . . . Erik Pederson, general manager of the Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco, has made several changes in the Inn's food and lounge operations. For starters: A specialty family-priced dinner menu was introduced for Sunday evenings. Selections include fish, spaghetti or fried chicken, salad, sourdough bread, ice cream and a glass of California wine. A "Kiddie's Menu" is also featured, with the youngsters treated to free candy and lemonade . . . Cafe Lata, which is an old Italian breakfast drink, is a specialty at the Omelette House. Made with freshly beaten egg, cream and coffee, the drink is served hot or cold with a whipped cream topping.

Doros Reopened After Vacation

Many prominent people make Doros their favorite restaurant when dining in San Francisco. Incidentally, Doros reopened Monday after their annual two weeks vacation . . . Late diners find Bruno's in the Mission comparable to a water-hole in a desert. They've missed the normal dinner hour and are looking for a leading restaurant with just about any and everything to offer. That's just what they find at this popular restaurant. From thick, charcoal broiled steaks and chops, fish, poultry, pastas right down to ham 'n' eggs or a great sandwich. No question about it, when you've missed the dinner hour and find yourself hungry around ten o'clock, head for Bruno's in the Mission for a complete dinner . . . Although still fighting rising food costs, Bob Elliott, owner of Buffy's Steak and Pizza restaurant, still manages to offer genuine money-saving bargains at various times. . . Providing the mighty dance sounds at the new Penguin Lounge, which features an upstairs loft area and two separate dance floors, is Mickey Frizzell . . . The intimate dining room of Jovanelo's in San Francisco offers amber candlelight, red tablecloths, tasteful oil paintings on the walls, and valet parking.

Fast Action

ONE OF THE FIRST items of business undertaken by recently-appointed acting Jeff Elementary School District Supt. Keith Breon was to cancel the conference trip of Trustee Beverly Forrester to San Diego. She was signed up to attend the Classified School Employees confab. Seems the district hasn't got the money to spare at this time.

IT WAS SURPRISING how fast the JESD acted in changing its letterheads. On Monday morning, effective date of Breon's takeover from ousted Supt. Frank L. Greenwood, the letterhead included Breon's name as "acting superintendent."

WE PREDICT that the Planning Commission at their meeting tomorrow night at the Daly City Civic Center will give the green light to a modified redevelopment plan, one that encompasses a much smaller area than the City Council at first had envisioned. But the council, acting as the Redevelopment Board, will go along with the area proposal. We predict that the lines will be drawn from the North County boundary with San Francisco, the Bay Area Rapid Transit station on the west, Mission Street on the east and Vista Grande on the south.

WE'RE STILL GETTING hit with a lot of correspondence trying to tell us "what's good for San Francisco is good for Daly City," Balderdash, and worse. San Francisco may have been "The City that Knows How" once a long, long time ago. But one look at some of those monstrosities it's built and some of its ventures is enough to not only make one shudder, but almost scream. Thanks, but no thanks.

BARBARA MORAN, assigned to the records section at the Daly City Police Department, is one proud mother. Her son, Stan, was graduated recently from Southeastern State University in Durant, Okla. He wants to be a commercial pilot and is going to stay in Oklahoma for the time being, Barbara tells. And all those Jeff High School teachers didn't think he'd make it. Ha.

WHERE WERE THOSE conservationists when the fires broke out? It's not too late to man an around-the-clock lookout on San Bruno Mountain and stomp out those fires which leave the hills black every year. Or could the firemen who have to trudge up and down those steep slopes every season interest those "no development" folks into hauling some hose lines around.

Frankly, this person is sick and tired of watching the mountain go up in smoke every year, have garbage-strewn slopes greet him as he winds his way along the very nice Guadalupe Canyon Parkway, listen to those noisy motorcycles disturb every living thing on or around the mountain, and write about the stolen cars abandoned weekly on the mountain. A development there would at least mean two important things: water supply and police.

DON'T HOLD YOUR breath waiting for BART. Latest reports predict (with cautious optimism) that those speedy trains won't come into Daly City until mid-spring of 1974 — if then! And here the city had a gala barbecue planned for September. May we suggest the feast go on without BART? After all, if we wait until the trains come to eat there's going to be some mighty hungry folks around these parts.

DALY CITY SPENT a bundle of our gas tax money to resurface Mission Street. And the merchants were happy as all get out. No sooner was the job done, then presto! Along comes PG&E with its jackinamers, and . . .

THAT WAS A real nice affair the other night at the Skyliner restaurant in D.C. The Lions Host Club installed Jack Guisto as its president and bid farewell to Nick Choppalis. Lots of wet eyes between the two. Never saw such an emotional group before. Joe Rohl, perhaps the oldest Lion in the world, was referred to as "Frazier." If you all remember that venerable old feline did his duty at Lion Safari in San Diego County of 86 years young (in cat years).

MRS. JEANNIE ROHL, in an unusual departure from their normal routine, was awarded a resolution commending her for the years she made husband, Joe, a success at being a good Lions Club member. Emcee for the event, Frank Spadarella, was requested to sing an Italian song. We have been asked to be critic for his rendition of "Sorrento" and would like to say, here and now, the FOOD was good. Nuf said!

RELIEF IS IN SIGHT FOLKS — That ridiculous traffic signal at the corner of Lake Merced, Alameda and South Mayfair avenues soon will be straightened out — we hope. TOPICS funds will be used to put in a system where, hopefully, one will not risk life and limb trying to negotiate a turn there. This intersection has been a pet peeve of (not necessarily in this order) Assemblyman Lou Papan, Councilman Vic Kyriakis, Yours Truly and 40,000 motorists.

OTHER PEEVES DEPT. — Shopping carts; wandering cats (dogs have to get tags, why not cats?); kids and adults with "salutes" long before and after July Fourth; litterbugs who toss their trash out of cars wherever the urge hits them — and hit them someone should.

County School Drug Survey

Booze Top Problem

The use of alcohol by junior high school and high school students in San Mateo County continues to climb, according to an annual study of student drug use by the county's Health and Welfare Department.

At almost every grade level from seventh grade to the senior year in high school and in almost every category of usage for both males and females, the percentage of alcohol use is on the rise in this county, the study shows.

In addition, the use of alcohol by young people is clearly the county's number one drug problem, far exceeding the use of tobacco, marijuana, LSD, amphetamines, barbiturates and heroin.

According to the report, more than 80 per cent of all high school students surveyed tried some kind of alcohol beverage at least once in 1972. More than 40 per cent of them tried such a beverage 10 times or more.

Besides the increase in the use of alcohol, upward trends are noted in the use of tobacco and marijuana, both of which experienced jumps in percentage use in almost every survey category over 1971.

Two of the mood and mind-altering substances, barbiturates and amphetamines, appear to be continuing a downward trend observed first a year ago.

LSD, the most potent of the so-called psychedelics, continued to be taken on an experimental basis, although fewer students reported heavy use of the drug.

According to Mrs. Lillian Blackford, who released the report this week, "This survey is particularly useful in that it provides documentation attesting to the rising problem of alcohol use among young persons."

Among the most alarming findings were those for heroin.

Among the almost 30,000 questionnaires which are the basis of the study, 591 high school students reported at least one use of heroin. Of these 73 senior boys (4.3 per cent of all senior boys), and 42 senior girls (1.8 per cent of all senior girls) reported at least one-time use.

Thirty boys (1.8 per cent) and 10 girls (0.7 per cent) reported at least 50 or more usages.

The survey does not include adolescents who have dropped out of high school who doubtless have a much higher proportion of heroin users.

Mrs. Blackford points out that her research design has permitted repetition of the study for six successive years.

"This has made it possible," she says, "to develop the only large-scale series of historical data on the spread of use of specific drugs through a student population that is presently available in the United States."

The department has recently requested support from the National Institute of Mental Health, which funded the annual surveys, for a special project granted aimed at further refinements in data analysis to determine whether the spread of use of these substances over the past six years can be broken down into epidemic patterns that might apply to other similar conditions, such as spreading chronic alcoholism among adults.

EOC Future Uncertain

Local communities in San Mateo County must soon meet the economic crises of social programs if they are to be continued and developed.

That's the general message from Edward R. Becks, executive director of the County's Economic Opportunity Commission, as delivered to new commissioners at a meeting last night.

Although given limited renewed life from the federal government, Becks voiced concern as to where future funds would come from to provide the services for the poor and socially disadvantaged.

"There's a bill on President Nixon's desk for funding for an additional year, but no one sees it (the Office of Economic Opportunity) continuing," Becks declared.

As a result, "It's necessary for us to look at other kinds of funding, and at our programs, the director said.

Becks said during the remainder of the year the EOC can stimulate local communities to initiate programs for the elderly, poor and handicapped.

"The EOC position does not concern itself with who operates the programs, but that the areas that need to be served are adequately and humanely served," Becks said.

He added, "If a city wishes to run a program in its jurisdiction, that city should have the opportunity to run it."

"On the other hand, if the city is not able to run the social program, the EOC will be available to supply any assistance that the cities need and that we can afford to supply as ultimately even to take the program over and operate it for the city."

"The essence is that programs exist and continue to serve the low-income constituency. Service to the poor and low-income people is too important to have resources and energy dissipated in jurisdictional squabbles," Becks said.

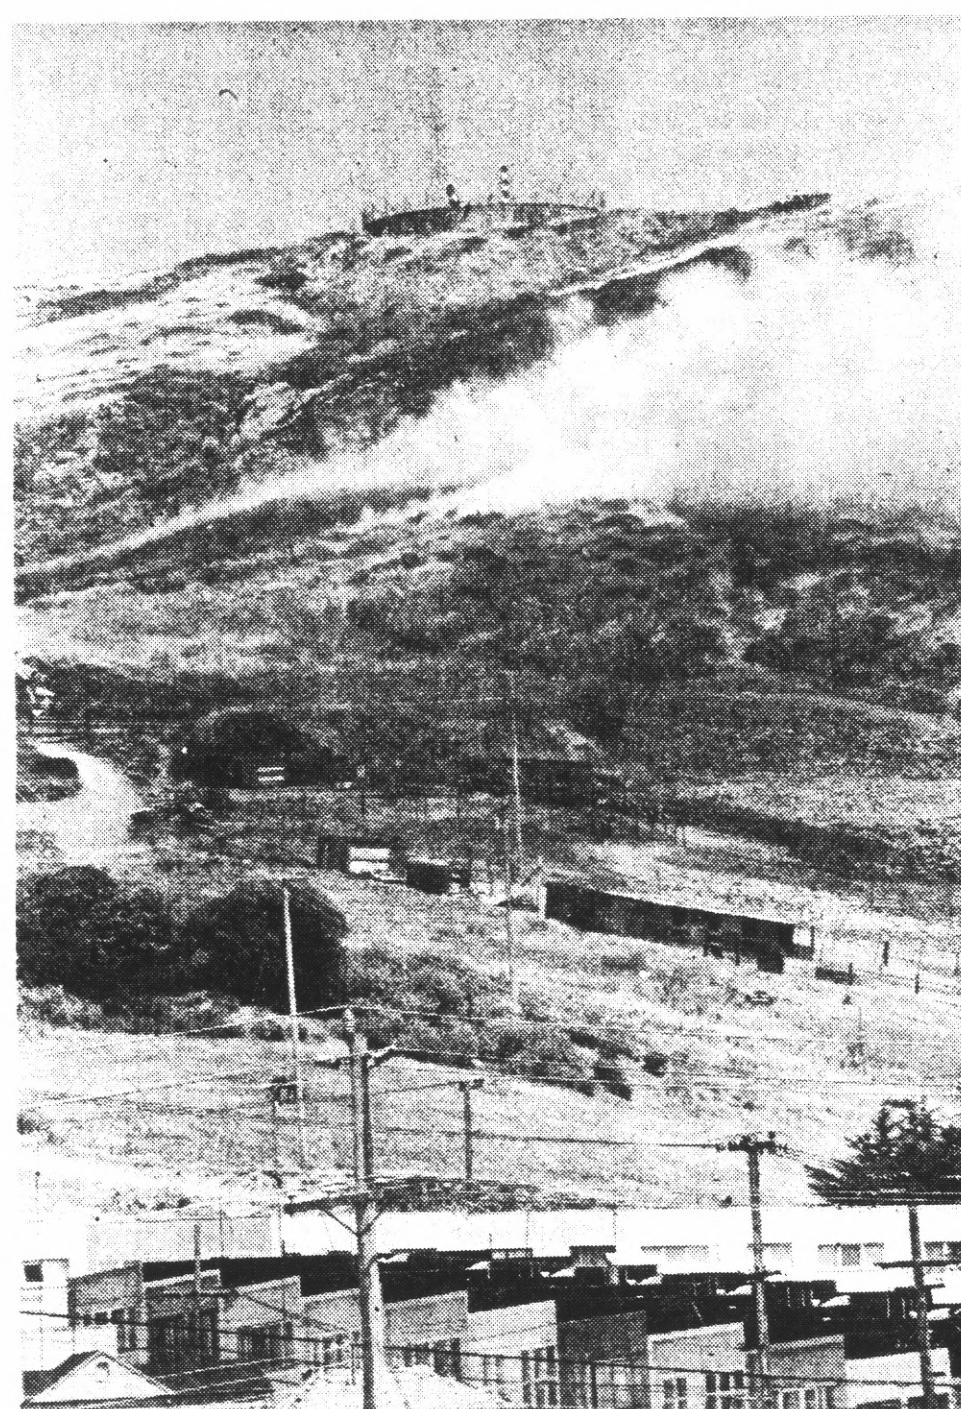

The director noted that EOC funding from the federal government ends Oct. 1. After that, funding most likely will be limited to the county and state level, plus whatever support commissioners are able to drum up in the county's 19 cities.

Related, Becks said a planning, research and development team soon will develop a system that will enable San Mateo County to look at social programs and evaluate them. Other objectives, he said, will be the development of a useful county profile that may be used by the county and the cities, and the increasingly important drive to develop funds for continued operation of EOC.

Among EOC-operated programs are emergency food and medical services, homemaker programs, summer programs, senior citizens nutrition and training and technical assistance.

The delegated programs also include Head Start, state preschool and information and referral centers.

SAN BRUNO MOUNTAIN on fire has become the standard summer backdrop for the surrounding neighborhoods, including this recent scene from Daly City. Firemen, usually Division of Forestry crews from Belmont, make many hot-weather trips to the mountain. They battled one 10-acre blaze Friday and a 20-acre conflagration Saturday in their latest confrontations. See Frank LePierre's column on this page for an idea about how to cope with the seasonal plague of flame and smoke. (Post Photo)

Citizenship

By SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

A cafe owner who is conscious of the responsibilities of citizenship uses the back of his menus to communicate a message. It reads:

"If you would like to kill a good town, here are a few things to do:

Don't pay taxes. Let the other fellow pay his, then fuss because the streets are not kept up.

Never attend meetings called for the good of the town.

If you attend a public meeting, don't say anything. Wait until you get outside and then cuss the council or board and find fault with everything that was decided.

Get all the city can give you and don't give anything in return.

Never accept an office. It is easier to criticize than to do things.

Don't do any more than you have to when others willingly and unselfishly give their time to make a better town, howl because the city is run by a clique.

Look at every proposition in a selfish way. If you are not the one that gets the most out of it, vote against it. Never consider what it will do for the town as a whole.

Don't do anything for the youth of the town except criticize them as potential juvenile delinquents. Keep them down. Keep your feet on them.

If you have good leaders, don't follow them. Take a jealous attitude and talk about everything they do. After all, a man must be conceited to seek public office.

Don't work on any committees or boards. Tell them you're too busy.

Above all, don't support your local retail stores and businesses (nor the salesmen who live in your town) but if you need a donation, ask them for it and then raise Cain if they do not see fit to donate. Expect them to back you but don't you back them."

WISE MEN have ever realized the need for responsible citizenship, so they have spoken with Walt Whitman whose "Song of the Broad-Axe" warns against civic apathy and against false pride on the part of citizens.

What do you think endures?

Do you think a great city endures?

Or a teeming manufacturing state? or a prepared constitution? or the best built of steamships?

Or hotels of granite and iron? or any chef-e-oeuvres of engineering, forts, armaments?

Away! these are not to be cherished for themselves, they fill their hour, the dancers dance, the musicians play for them.

The show passes, all does well enough of course. All does very well till one flash of defiance.

A great city is that which has the greatest men and women. If it be few ragged huts it is still the greatest city in the whole world.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Two Months Of Uninterrupted Classics

It looks as though the Bay Area has another theatrical feather in its cap. The Marin Shakespeare Theater, which must and I'm told will change its name next year, got off to an impressive start at their new, permanent San Francisco location, the Palace of Fine Arts. And while the company has been long established in San Rafael, this appears to be a new company of professionals and semi-professionals under the overall executive direction of Susan Hooper Walker and a strong and influential board of directors and honoraries.

Two reasons why a name change will be necessary is that the company is not in or exclusively from Marin and it won't perform only Shakespeare. From their debut this weekend of three productions, (a fourth will be added this Friday) to run every night through September 10, the company has something solid to offer. Establishing a new company is difficult enough without the added confusion of calling itself Marin when it's based in San Francisco.

From the energy expended in the first two offerings: William Wycherly's late-17th century tableau "The Country Wife" and Shakespeare's humanistic tragedy "King Lear" I'd wish them good health, along with full houses. How they'll keep up the pace of nightly rotating shows with nearly everyone playing in at least three with either make-em-or-break-em. But it is a necessary discipline if they are to develop an ensemble repertory company capable of drawing audiences who have been spoiled by the perfection of American Conservatory Theater with whom they are not in competition . . . yet.

What is wrong in the main with their debut work, "The Country Wife" is that they've not had time nor direction to achieve a playing style or ensemble spirit. There is anarchy upon the wide stage and no flair for Restoration comedy (the most difficult kind of humor to pull off) let alone a panache for ribaldry.

While Robert Morgan's costumes are frolicsome and gaudy, there is neither wickedness nor insouciance about the manners and mores represented in the rauscously shouted and overacted look into country innocence and city sin.

The best of this cast is Joan Pirkle's unquenchably flirtatious unfaithful country wife Margery Pinchwife; a snorting and affectatious Sir Jasper Fidget (Warren Shook); and Daniel Kern's suppliant lover Mr. Hartcourt.

Theatricality isn't enough to make Restoration comedy fun for the audience. Finesse and subtlety will grace it with shimsy where shouting and awkward posturing robs it of an inner life.

Where the company fell short on Friday night, it made up for on Saturday with a moving although traditional production of "King Lear" with that superb actor from ACT Ray Reinhardt as the vulnerable monarch.

Good morning, good cooks

Get out the mixing bowl, measuring spoons and turn on the oven, it's baking time. I have some different and tasty recipes to share with you.

This first recipe, from Mrs. Lee Reed of Daly City, is most delicious and the method of baking is unique. You bake the bread in cans, making an attractive little loaf.

HOBO BREAD

1½ cups raisins
1 cup hot water
2 teaspoons baking powder
Combine the one and half cups raisins, one cup water and two teaspoons baking powder. Set aside while you mix the rest of the ingredients.
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sugar
2 cups flour
½ cup chopped nuts (or more)

Mix together the beaten egg, one cup sugar, two cups flour and half cup nuts. Add hot mixture and blend well. Using four number 300 cans, grease them well and fill half full. Bake in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes or a little longer, till bread tests done.

NOTE: If you use number 303 cans (that's the size of most vegetables and fruits) it makes three loaves of bread.

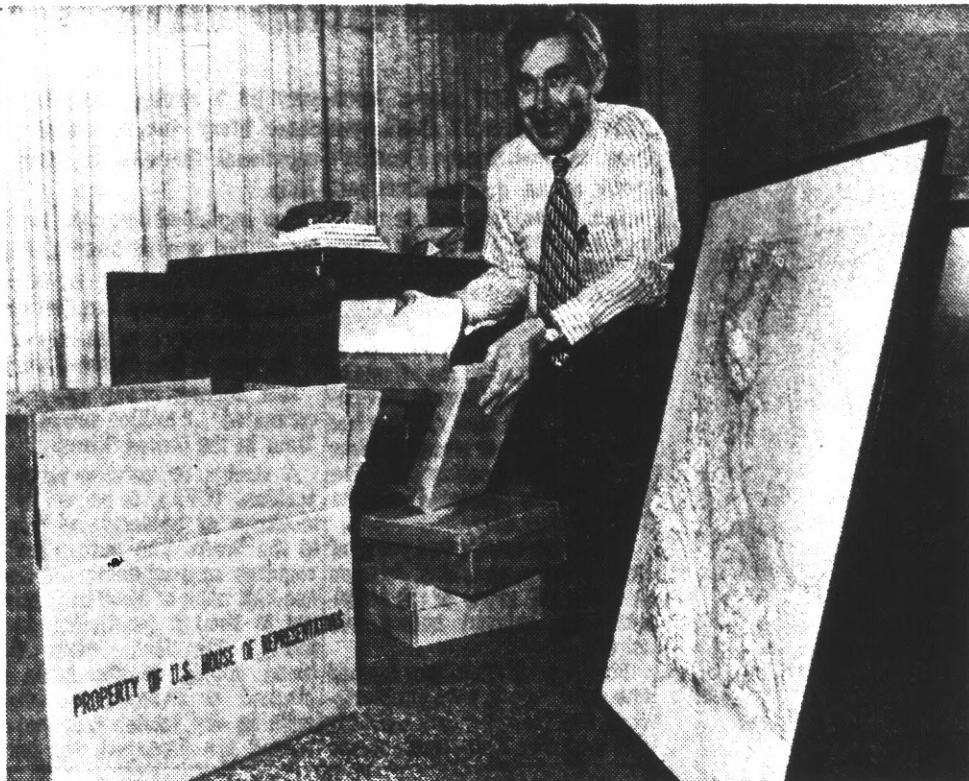

For an extra treat or something sweet to put in the cookie jar, try these two-way honey sticks. They are easy to make. Be certain to divide the batter in half. Mix one cup unmelted morsels into one half the batter and one cup melted morsels into the remaining batter. This way you will have two different types of honey sticks.

TWO-WAY HONEY STICKS

2 6-oz. pkgs. (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 eggs
1½ cups honey

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Melt over hot (not boiling) water 1 cup chocolate morsels; cool. Combine three cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt and set aside. Combine one cup shortening, one-half cup sugar, two teaspoons cinnamon and two teaspoons vanilla extract; beat until creamy. Beat in two eggs. Alternately add the one and one-half cups honey and the flour mixture. Divide batter in half. Stir one cup chocolate morsels in one half and melted morsels into remainder.

Spread each batter into greased 15 by 10 by 1-inch pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 12 minutes. Cool. Dust with sifted confectioners sugar if desired. Cut into 3 by 1-inch sticks. Makes eight dozen cookies.

Boys Steal Purse at Golf Club

An unusual purse snatch made for an expensive round of golf yesterday at the California Golf Club near South San Francisco for Mr. and Mrs. George K. Ingham of San Bruno. Ingham, 60, told Sheriff's Deputy Michael Bushley that he and his wife, Sarah, were on the 17th tee about 5 p.m., their golf cart parked about 20 feet away from Mrs. Ingham's purse in the vehicle.

Two teen-age boys approached the cart, Ingham said. A few moments later he noted them running off in different directions. A short time later, the Inghams noted that Mrs. Ingham's purse, containing a $2,500 diamond ring, was missing.

Not only did the purse contain the ring, the Inghams reported, but also Mrs. Ingham's checkbook, a cosmetics case and a number of credit cards.

Meetings are the third Wednesday of each month, executive board gatherings are held the Wednesday prior to the general meeting. In addition to regular memberships there are patron members who find the press of time prevents their attending meetings regularly but they further the work of the auxiliary by an annual contribution.

The ring, the Inghams said, had a 2½-carat diamond in the center, with two ½-carat diamonds on either side.

'Stroke Club' Meets Weekly at Mary's Help

"When I first came home from the hospital I didn't even know my own family. I couldn't speak at all and numbers and letters meant nothing to me. I was totally dependent on others to help me with the simplest things, such as dressing and cutting meat."

That's how Evelyn Johnson of Pacifica described the effects of a stroke she suffered in November, 1971. She was relating her story to 25 other stroke victims at a recent meeting of the Mary's Help Hospital Stroke Club in Daly City.

Now, after nearly two years of intensive therapy, Mrs. Johnson is resuming some of the activities she enjoyed before her stroke.

The Stroke Club was formed one year ago to help stroke victims and their families adjust to the new life styles made necessary by a stroke, according to Sister Mary Ann, registered occupational therapist at Mary's Help.

She explained that clubs similar to the one at Mary's Help have been appearing in cities across the country but that the Mary's Help club is the only one of its type in San Mateo County.

Mrs. Johnson is only one of an estimated 1.2 million stroke victims in the United States.

A stroke, or cerebrovascular accident (CVA), is caused by a blockage or reduction of blood to the brain. The human brain requires approximately one and one-half pints of blood each minute to keep it functioning normally. Therefore, when the blood supply to the brain is blocked or reduced, the brain cells in the section deprived of blood are damaged. The functions controlled by these sections of the brain, such as vision, motor movement or speech are impaired.

For a stroke patient the road to recovery is, as Mrs. Johnson put it, an "uphill struggle."

Once the acute illness has subided, further recovery depends

Uncle Sam helps us prove that food cost less at Mayfair last week than at 8 other top chains

Again last week, we compared food prices with the major supermarkets in this area.

"Specials", "total discount", and most other kinds of prices were compared. In this survey of July 6 to 7, Mayfair's overall food prices were lower than eight other top supermarket chains.

To try to be fair, the comparisons were again with Uncle Sam's list, the same full list of items that the U. S. Department of Labor,

Bureau of Labor Statistics, uses every month to measure food prices as part of the cost of living.

These comparisons show you could have saved from $9.21 to $7.46 on the same $50 to $60 worth of basic foods in this list.

With the high cost of living these days, really, can you afford not to buy your food at Mayfair?

THIS STAMP & SAFEWAY
ARE GO-TOGETHERS ...
BOTH STAND FOR FINE QUALITY!

At Safeway, every fresh cut of beef that you find on display is of USDA Choice Grade. This is meat graded by U.S. Department of Agriculture experts who judge strictly and impartially. In order to feature lower prices, some other stores buy meat of lower grade and coin fancy sounding names for it. But at Safeway, every fresh cut of beef is USDA Choice Grade. It is the most popular grade of beef.

Chicken Barbecue Begins with a Tender Bird

Successful broiled chicken begins with high quality, young, tender-meated birds. When shopping for poultry be sure to look for the U.S. Department of Agriculture grade shield on the label. It means that the chicken has been graded for quality by a technically trained Federal or State grader.

U.S. Grade A chickens are the highest quality. They're fully fleshed and meaty and have good overall appearance, making them your best choice for outdoor broiling. You'll find the grade shield on packages of chicken parts and boneless roasts as well as whole chickens.

While the grade mark indicates quality, the key to tenderness is the age or class of bird. Young chickens, for instance, are more tender than older ones. They may be labeled young chicken, Rock Cornish game hen, broiler, fryer, roaster, or capon.

Mature, less-tender chickens will be labeled stewing, fowl, hen, mature, or old.

Chicken halves, quarters, or pieces are especially good for barbecuing. Buy a broiler-fryer for cutting into individual pieces or buy the chicken pre-cut. Allow 3 to 1 pound per person.

For rotisserie, or indirect heat cooking, buy whole chickens, large pieces, roasts or rolls.

The trick to a successful charcoal barbecue is to wait until the flames have diminished and you have a bed of glowing coals. Start the fire at least 30 minutes ahead of time so you'll have plenty of time for the coals to burn down to ash-gray before the cooking starts. Remember to space coals so no two coals touch. Be sure to grease grill before putting it over coals.

When the fire is ready, brush the chicken with melted butter or your favorite barbecue sauce. The center of the rack tends to be hotter than the outside edges, so place small pieces like wings near the edge to avoid overbrowning. Cooking time ranges from 30 to 45 minutes for pieces to 1 to 1 1/2 hours for quarters or halves, depending on the size and thickness of the pieces. The chicken is done when it is fork tender and the juices are clear. Baste and turn chicken occasionally to assure even cooking. If drippings flare up during cooking, sprinkle the fire lightly with water to quench the blaze.

If you are using a rotisserie, be sure the chicken is balanced well so that it doesn't slip as the spit turns. Again, cooking time will vary with the size of the bird, and closeness to the heat. When cooking a whole bird, a good rule of thumb is to allow about 20 to 30 minutes per pound.

The most reliable test for doneness is use of a thermometer. When a thermometer registers 190 degrees Fahrenheit, the chicken is done. Lack ing a thermometer, the thigh joint will separate easily. When it separates easily, the chicken is done.

Here are some new barbecue sauce ideas for chicken. Each recipe makes enough sauce for 2 broiler-fryers.

Food for Life Nutrition Essential To Health

By GEORGE M. BRIGGS,
Ph.D.

It is predicted that 83 of every 100 male babies born today in the United States will die eventually from one or more chronic diseases, according to a recent article in "Scientific American." In 1900 the rate was only 52 per 100 deaths. Female rates show about the same trends.

Deaths from infectious diseases, on the other hand, are now only 6 per 100 deaths, one sixth the rate of that in 1900. Surprisingly, the overall death rate today is about the same as it was in 1950, partly because of the current emphasis of the overworked medical profession on the cure of diseases rather than their prevention.

Most of the important common chronic diseases, such as diabetes and long-term disorders of the heart, blood system, kidney, liver, and bone, have very important nutrition components in their treatment and prevention.

There are also an estimated 40 to 60 million Americans with severe handicapping diseases such as arthritis, eye and hearing disorders, mental problems, birth deformities, alcoholism, rank obesity, and serious tooth disorders. Nutrition also plays an important role, directly or indirectly, in many of these diseases. They can often be delayed or prevented by proper attention to good eating.

Why is it so important that we eat well for good health? Because the body has no way of making vitamins, minerals, amino acids or other nutrients. They must be obtained in our food. One, or more, of them is an essential component of every metabolic step within each body cell. They are also essential for producing and using all body energy, for the action of each hormone, for the warding off of many infections, for the building of all bones and tissues, and for proper brain and nerve function.

The lesson from this is so simple and matter of fact that we often forget or ignore it. That is, for a long, healthy and productive life we have to eat a variety of good food providing the essential nutrients in balanced amounts and free of toxins. We must start these habits early in life. Though having nutritious food does not guarantee good health by itself, it no doubt plays a major role in at least delaying the onset of many chronic diseases if not their prevention.

Melons Last Into August

Crenshaw melons are available now through October, reports the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A popular member of the melon family, Crenshaws are noted for their flavor and aroma. The rind is relatively smooth with shallow lengthwise furrows. Ripeness is shown by a deep yellow color and a softening at the blossom end. Hold at room temperature until ripe, then refrigerate and use right away.

Dressing is Decorative Combine whipped cream with mayonnaise and drained crushed pineapple and serve over a jellied strawberry salad.

Flowers and leaves may be shaped from cut-up colored gumdrops. Nice to use as decoration on frosted cupcakes.

Cucumbers in Sandwiches

Cut thin bread slices into 2-inch rounds with a cookie cutter. Spread the rounds with a thin coating of softened cream cheese. Top each round with a cucumber slice and dust with paprika.

DC Playgrounds Offer a Variety for Summer

Abraham Lincoln School Play-ground: Abraham Lincoln playground in Daly City had its first scavenger hunt of the year last week. The number one hunter was Richard Stevens. Second place winners were Rori Silva, Greg Zatoff, Brad Zatoff and Laura Prado. Third place went to Brenda McGowan and Lisa Howard and Danny Huertas.

The fate of these finalists will be determined shortly. Colma's broom hockey team has begun its summer training. These top pucksters are Tim Howard, Greg Ortiz, Howard Calhoun, Scott Martin, Richard Kelly and Richard Sanchez. Competition with other playgrounds will begin soon.

Upcoming at Colma will be a picnic day barbecue. First on the day's agenda will be a bring-your-own-food barbecue. Following the barbecue will be sack races and tug-of-war. The barbecue is a regular Friday activity beginning at 1:30 p.m. The "Paul Phalen" merit award went to Papa Woods.

Papa reported to the Fire Department a brush fire at Colma. Daniel Webster: Daniel Webster opened its softball season with a double loss to Westmoor Park. Although holding Westmoor scoreless for six innings the big five-run homer by Westmoor's player coach was to lead to a 5-2 win.

Webster's wondermen were

Bruno Needs Policewomen, City Budget Study Shows

There are more women than men arrested in the San Bruno Tanforan Shopping Center. Therefore Police Chief Russell Cunningham would like more female help.

Three new police cars expected to be delivered this month will be converted to propane.

Looking at it from the point of the growth of the city, the San Bruno Fire Department hasn't kept pace. This could mean fire insurance underwriters could downgrade — point-wise — the city.

All heavy pieces of fire department equipment eventually will be diesel powered. Propane, says Fire Chief Herb Freitas, can be hazardous within the confines of the fire station.

These are some of the little known facts revealed during a recent San Bruno budget session.

Just getting a good foothold into the fiscal situation for the 1973-74 year, the council is expected to review proposals from the park and recreation department, the city clerk and finance department and the library budget.

Depending on progress with these portions of the budget, the council may move on to the city manager and planning department budgets, which involve a proposal for a significant realignment of duties and requests for procedural changes in operation.

Also anticipated at the Monday night session will be individual requests from the Chamber of Commerce — seeking a $7,300 subsidy — and a financial request — undisclosed at this time — from the San Bruno-South San Francisco Information and Referral Center.

In the last session, zeroing in primarily on the police and fire departments, the council gave tentative concurrence to the fire department budget, including the elimination of a request for three additional men.

The police department budget was not finalized because a special federally-funded program which will only cover personnel salaries for part of the '73-'74 fiscal year, left some uncertainty in salary figures that had to be clarified.

Chief Cunningham said the traffic unit program in question "certainly justified itself" during the past year. It is scheduled to be funded through January of 1973 from federal funds. The amount is $73,740.

If the city intends to continue the program, it will mean a budgeting of about $40,000 to retain three personnel for the remainder of the '73-'74 fiscal year and then picking up the full tab after that.

In admitting that the fire department is "doing a good job with what we've got," Chief Freitas cracked, "I'm talking myself out of three men." He said San Bruno's fire loss per capita — except for the North Brae School — is less than the national average.

The council did approve the purchase of a new pick-up style fire-fighting rig specifically designed to fight fires in the hard-to-get-to Crestmoor Canyon area.

It will replace a 1948 model truck that was purchased for $90.

Three members of an East Bay family were jailed, and a 16-year-old girl lodged in Hillcrest Juvenile Home Sunday following a free-for-all fight which erupted in the Central Terminal at San Francisco International Airport following an alleged remark about a gun at the security entrance to the Delta Airlines boarding area.

According to Security Officer Victor J. McKeever, he heard James Stephens, Sr., 48, of Berkeley, who was going through the security check, talk to a woman concerning a gun.

As a result, Stephens, his son, James Stephens, Jr., 18, a daughter, Juanita Stephens Brooks, 22, of Oakland, and a 16-year-old Oakland girl with the family had to go through a magnetometer check.

All cleared, with the exception of the senior Stephens, who was asked to empty his pockets, McKeever reported.

Stephens, who appeared to have been drinking, became angry and refused to return the items to his pockets, the security officer said. He reported that Stephens asked to have the items placed in a paper sack and returned to him.

When he said he didn't have a paper sack, McKeever related, Stephens became loud and abusive, claiming his rights had been violated and that he was not going anywhere until his rights were straightened out.

A crowd began to gather, and a customs officer, Floyd J. Wyatt, called for assistance from the sheriff's office.

Deputy Sheriff Anthony Stubblebine responded and informed the senior Stephens he was under arrest for disturbing the peace. With that, the deputy reported, he was jumped by the younger Stephens and Mrs. Brooks. He was scratched and kicked by Mrs. Brooks and struck in the chest by young Stephens, the deputy related.

Security, customs and sheriff's officers descended on the scene.

During the fray, Reserve Deputy Sheriff Robert F. Prueck

Security, customs and sheriff's officers descended on the scene.

During the fray, Reserve Deputy Sheriff Robert F. Prueck

said he was kicked several times by Mrs. Brooks as he attempted to handcuff the woman. Security Officer Robert M. Bomber related he was kicked in the side of the face by the woman. The 16-year-old girl also joined in the fray, scratching, hitting and kicking officers, the incident report states.

Gregory Sandover, 20, 129 Amapola Dr., Pacifica, a security officer employed by the Wackenhut Company, was reportedly injured in the struggle, and was taken to Peninsula hospital. He was treated for an injury to the left knee and discharged.

After officers finally got everyone handcuffed, Guillory reported. Mrs. Brooks lay down on the floor and had to be bodily carried to the airport sheriff's sub-station.

But the deputy's troubles were not yet over.

At the substation, George R. Stubblebine, 56, a West Simsbury, Conn., business executive who had been picked up earlier on a drunk charge and was awaiting transportation to county jail, started interfering and harassing deputies as they attempted to question members of the Stephens family and witnesses to the fray.

After Stubblebine became abusive and profane and deputies attempted to restrain him, he kicked Guillory in the groin, it was reported.

Finally booked at county jail were:

Stephens Sr., charged with being drunk, interfering with officers and disturbing the peace. He later posted $315 bail to appear in Northern District Municipal Court July 30 at 9 a.m.

Stephens Jr., charged with interfering with an officer, disturbing the peace and felony assault and battery on a police officer.
